Safety Tips / Announcements

EXTORTION SCAMS

The Loudoun County Sheriff's Office has received reports of people being targeted by extortion scams, to include dating apps. The scammers often pose as young women and target victims and request to exchange explicit photos.

In one scenario, the scammer tells the victim they will share the conversation and photos with family members and friends if they do not send money.

In another scenario, the victim is told to pay for the time with the "female". If the victim declines to pay, they receive a phone call through an app demanding money and threatening the victim and their family members. The caller sends violent images and provides information about the victim's family such as their names and address.
